

Badger class Moral day

During moral day Badger class thought about why it is important to show love to people and how God taught us to love all his creatures and the earth. We create some amazing 'love is' wheels that showed what love means to us. The children had some great ideas, such as; love is kindness, love is caring and love is helping.

We also found out that there are a set of rights that apply to everyone. We read 'We are all born free' which explains the Declaration of Human Rights. The children were very interested to know people had not always had these rights, for example the right to an education! All of them felt that it would be morally wrong to stop someone getting an education.
